Mule Ride Adds Thrill for Canyon Tourists

A party of mule riders on the Kaibab Trail on the North Rim of the Grand Canyon are dwarfed by the immensity of the National Park's formations. Twenty-mile mule ride is one of the more thrilling ways to see Arizona's great natural wonder.

Sailings Start Saturday

West Coast Linked With Orient Again

For the first time since the passing of the stately CPR "white empress" ships, Canada's west coast will have a direct passenger link with the Orient.

The new Pacific and Orient Line service starts next Saturday when the 28,000-ton buff-hulled Ss Himalaya pulls away from the dock in Vancouver and sails for Japan.

Ports of call are San Francisco and Los Angeles, then Honolulu and Yokohama.

An almost intangible aura of welcome pervades the atmosphere of the Far East. From the courteous smiles of your fellow passengers on the high-speed electric train between Yokohama and Tokyo to the "12-hour delivery" Hong Kong tailor who serves your choice of refreshments, this goodwill is ever present.

EXOTIC BEAUTY

Ever since Marco Polo made the Orient famous more than six centuries ago, travellers have been marvelling at its dramatic contrasts and exotic beauty.

The beauty and contrasts are still there. And there's another quality present that was there when Kublai Khan made the young Marco Polo one of his court favorites. It's this unique and very enjoyable blend of Oriental courtesy and hospitality.

After Hong Kong, the PO ships call at Manila and Singapore before heading through the Suez Canal for London.

Both Hong Kong and Singapore are free ports with the international flavor only free ports can have. Visitors and business people from all over the world make these teeming cosmopolitan cities mirrors of the best in Continental and Oriental courtesy. Old-timers in the Orient claim the newcomer has only to order a "pink gin" at the famous Raffles Hotel to get the full impact of this Far Eastern courtesy. No 12-course Parisian dinner is served with more care and grace.

UNIQUE SPOT

The Philippines are almost unique in that they blend old world Spanish courtesies with those of the nearby Orient.

The chauffeurs of the Manila "jeepneys" — gaily painted flower bedecked jeeps with the names like "God Bless You" — ingratiate themselves with as much skill as television MCs. And it would be next to impossible to match the hospitality of the provinces.

What does all this add up to?

Well to most travellers it means they can be assured of good treatment when touring the Orient and of feeling that they are wanted. And that's one of the big things that makes travelling, talking and looking at the scenery really enjoyable.
